

Good Dear Good

Originally bearing roots in Cape Breton, Nova Scotia, Good Dear Good brings their East Coast heritage to their name. Commonly known as a greeting on the Cape Breton coast, “good dear good” is a simple response to “how are ya?” that emulates the kindness and lighthearted aura each member puts out into the world. Their emotional lyrics on top of harmonious indie-pop/rock melodies take us to the dark depths of the Atlantic while the sun shines a beam straight to the ocean floor. Each player is a pillar to equally support a sound that is living, breathing and above all — good.

Good Dear Good are launching their celebratory self-produced debut EP “Arrival” in June 2023 with mixing by John Mullane (AKA Future Dad). Themes of finding your people— the ones you hold near and dear, persevering through mental health struggles amongst a broken system, and resilience, are what make up Good Dear Good’s upcoming record. This will be their first release under Lulo Music — an emerging indie label based in Dartmouth that was born out of the NSCC community through the Music Business program.

Stats

Spotify Followers: 1.1K
Spotify Monthly Listeners: 358
Total Streams: 116K
Instagram Followers: 1.7K
Facebook Fans: 1.2K
TikTok Followers: 794
Youtube Subscribers: 113

Streaming

Music

Coffee and Sunshine

Coffee and Sunshine will be Good Dear Good's first release under Lulo Music Group. Coffee and Sunshine highlights the struggles of living in isolation and having to face your battles on your own. Spending time you may not have, waiting for help., Coffee and Sunshine can be accurately described as a reflection of the mental health crisis in Nova Scotia and the difficulty of getting help when it's needed most.

If I Can tells the story of returning to a place that was once your world, but not really feeling like you're part of it anymore. Growing older and further apart from those you love the most.

Never give up without a fight. Be unapologetically alive. Guess Again highlights the importance of perseverance, strength in numbers, finding your community, and sticking it out until the end.

Good Dear Good's first creation. This song represents the struggles of existential dread, anxiety, and internalized emotions that may not be outwardly present in someone's day-to-day.

Achievements

- Signed with Lulo Music Group 2023
- Sold Out Showcase at Nova Scotia Music Week 2022
- Silver & Bronze : The Coast's "Best of Halifax-Pop Artist/Band"
- Opened for Broken Social Scene
- Opened for Classified
- Over 100K total streams

“Knowing people can take something from the things we share is really special, and if that helps people on any level, then we know we’re on the right path.”

- Tim Hatcher

Photos

Live Performance

Good Dear Good play "Coffee and Sunshine" and "The Storm" at Emerge HFX, an annual arts festival in Halifax, Nova Scotia, run by Youth Art Connection with the goal of celebrating the East Coast's most exciting young talents.

Tim Hatcher plays a solo acoustic set for the ECMA's in 2022

Shows

2023

- April 22nd: "Coffee and Sunshine" Release at The Seahorse
- March 17th: The Seahorse with Electric Spoonful, Hitman, Skunk Motel, and Alright Already
- January 26th: The Carleton with Avery Dakin

2022

- February 25th: The Carleton with Pillow Fite
- June 2nd: Good Robot with Persephone
- July 29th: The Seahorse with Daniel James Mcfayden and The Hightides
- November 4th: Holiday Inn Ballroom at Nova Scotia Music Week
- November 25th: Foggy Goggle with Avery Dakin
- December 15th: "Recess" at The Seahorse with the Brood, Postfun, and Skunk Motel

Music Video

Good Dear Good release their first ever music video for their single "Guess Again." The video depicts the importance of community and strength in numbers which is demonstrated through guest appearances from the Nova Scotia music community.

Video by Emily Fricker

Press

The Q Reviews

"One of Atlantic Canada's best live bands, Good Dear Good return with new sizzler 'If I Can'! The answer is yes, they most certainly can!"

East Coast DNA

"Good Dear Good is a four-piece powerhouse that brings together familiar, yet original, sounds."

The East Mag

"Guess Again" certainly sounds like The Strokes went hard on a budget for a laser dance party, while singing earnestly about getting yourself pinned into a corner."

Team Contact

Label:

Lulo Music Group

lulomusicgroup@gmail.com

Press Inquiries:

Megan Henebury

meganmhenebury@gmail.com

Good Dear Good

gooddeargoodmusic@gmail.com